The Book of Genesis, 566

“The reason was: for it shall be very grievous. This explains why in the dream, the position of the Pharaoh was by the Nile. The Nile was the lifeline of Egypt since Egypt virtually has no rainfall throughout the entire year. Egypt is dependent upon the periodic flooding of the Nile to moisten the land and the plantings. The Nile will flow in abundance for the first seven years but will recede into inadequacy for the second seven years. That would be the nature of a famine in the land of Egypt: not the withholding of rain, but failure of the Nile to flood.”

Dr. Arnold G. Fruchtenbaum

The Book of Genesis, 566-67

“Seven-year famines are recorded in Egyptian documents. For example, there is the text from the reign and rule of King Djoser of the Third Dynasty (2700 B.C.): ‘I was in distress on the Great Throne, and those who are in the palace where in the heart’s affliction from a very great evil, since the Nile had not come in my time for a space of seven years. Grain was scant, fruits were dried up, and everything which they ate was short. Every man robbed his companion. They moved without going (ahead). The infant was wailing; the youth was waiting; the heart of the old men was in sorrow; their legs were bent, crouching on the . . .

...ground, their arms were folded.’ So, seven-year famines are not something merely recorded in Scripture but also in Egyptian documents. This famine would affect indeed the gods of Egypt. For example, it would affect Osiris, a god who had the form of a bull was the god of the Nile. It would also affect Isis, also known as Hathor, who was a goddess in the form of a cow; and she was the goddess of fertility.”

“Second was the clothing: and arrayed him in vestures of fine linen. This, too, is paralleled in the Egyptian accounts. When Rekhmire was appointed vizier, he wrote: ‘I was a noble, the second of the king ... It was the first occasion of my being summoned ... I went forth ... clad in fine linen.’ This was the type of clothing worn by a vizier, a prime minister, someone who was second to the king.”

“Therefore, a total separation of twenty years existed from the time he had last seen members of his family until they were reunited in Egypt. The Hyksos Period, during which Joseph’s story unfolds, was the two-hundred-year period from 1750 until 1550 B.C. The Hyksos were Semitic rulers that conquered Egypt and ruled during the sixteenth and seventeenth dynasties. Thus, the Pharaoh at the time of Joseph was Semitic. This explains how a Semite such as Joseph could rise to the second highest position in Egypt, which had a Hamitic population.”

Geographical Distribution Of The Sons Of Noah

The three sons of Noah migrated to different areas. The Semites occupied the Tigris–Euphrates valley and most of Arabia; the Japhethites moved north, around the Black Sea, and even west to Spain; the Hamites went south into lower Asia Minor, coastal Syria and Palestine, and the Red Sea coast of Arabia, but principally into Africa.

Exposition
OF THE Entire Bible

“Mitzraim is a name by which Egypt is frequently called in Scripture, and this man was the father of the Egyptians; and because Egypt was inhabited by a son of Ham, it is sometimes called the land of Ham (Psalm 105:23). The word is of the dual number, and serves to express Egypt, which was divided into two parts, lower and upper Egypt.”

“But when the fullness of the time came, God sent forth His Son, born of a woman, born under the Law.”

Genesis 7:19-23

They rose greatly on the earth, and all the high mountains under the entire heaven were covered...Every living thing that moved on the earth perished—birds, livestock, wild animals, all the creatures that swarm over the earth, and all mankind. Everything on dry land that had the breath of life in its nostrils died. Every living thing on the face of the earth was wiped out; men and animals and the creatures that move along the ground and the birds of the air were wiped from the earth.
